RCH Celebrates Groundbreaking for New MRI Center

On Monday, May 2, RCH leaders including physicians, board members and staff posed for a picture before scooping a little soil during the official groundbreaking ceremony for the new addition to house MRI and Nuclear Medicine.

Bill Stahl, COO, welcomed everyone and introduced CFO, Mike Sinclair.

Mike stated that, "The new MRI suite will provide a one of a kind experience that patients won't receive anywhere in the surrounding area due to its unique design. The Vantage Titan 1.5 T Magnetic Resonance Imaging System is the industry's quietest and most advanced MRI technology on the market. The design was selected specifically to aid patients who experience claustrophobia and lessen the need for sedation use. In turn, the design provides a much safer and relaxing exam for the patient."

A reception with refreshments was held in the cafeteria afterwards. We anticipate that equipment will start arriving on campus this week.

The first ever Rookstock fundraiser was a huge success!

This past Saturday night, nearly 400 supporters from around the area and the country filled Steve & Tracy Fellhoelter's large shop just west of the hospital. The night was a celebration to raise funds for Phase 2 of the Hospital Expansion project.

It was a great opportunity to bring together old friends and make new ones. The night included fantastic food, a live and silent auction, and musical entertainers with roots from Rooks County.

Thank you so much to all the RCH volunteers who worked so hard! This was an enormous endeavor and we couldn't have done it without the support of so many.

Grants Help Provide Bike Helmets to Youngsters in Rooks County

The Kansas Department of Health and Environment (KDHE) recently awarded Rooks County Health Center's rehabilitation department a mini-grant for injury prevention. RCH Physical Therapist, AJ Thomas wrote the grant particularly to obtain bicycle helmets for second and third grade students in Rooks County.

Head injuries cause 75 percent of over 700 annual deaths on bicycles, and research show that helmets can prevent 85 percent of bicycle deaths.

“It’s important we teach these kids to wear these helmets every time they ride a bicycle or scooter—arms and legs are much easier to fix than the brain,” said Thomas. The helmets purchased through grant funds have a sportier look with a visor and are adjustable to grow with the children to around age 12. Along with the helmets, members of the RCH rehabilitation department gave a presentation on bicycle safety to second and third graders in Rooks County schools, handing out 144 helmets so far.

“I feel like this is the age we can have the most impact. Younger children wear them because they’re told to; older children think they’re too cool for helmets. If we can show them that helmets are not only cool but can prevent injury, then maybe we can get them to wear them as they get older,” said Thomas.
